Arbnor Berisha

Arbnor advises and represents clients on all matters relating to private construction and architects' law, acting for both employers and contractors. His practice includes drafting and negotiating construction and architects' contracts, providing legal support throughout ongoing projects, and representing clients in both judicial and out-of-court disputes. In addition, he advises public contracting authorities as well as bidders and companies on all aspects of public procurement law and supports procurement procedures from the preparation and conduct of the tender process through to the implementation of the project.
