EXPERTISE

- Procurement law
- Public funding and subsidy law
- Public law

Daniel advises public principals and bidders on all issues of public procurement law. As well as supporting public principals in proceedings in accordance with VgV, VOB/A and UVgO, he advises companies in procurement proceedings (verifying procurement documents, offer documents and complaints). A further key practice area is representing clients in review proceedings before procurement tribunals and procurement senates.

He supports public funding recipients in complying with funding conditions and against grant reclamations in the event of breaches of conditions.

Daniel also advises municipalities and other public law entities on all issues relating to public commercial law.
