EXPERTISE

- State aid law
- EU law
- Competition law

Valentine advises companies as well as the Federal Government of Germany, the federal states and municipalities on issues surrounding EU state aid law. She also advises on European and German antitrust law with a focus on platforms, essential facilities, standardisation and access to data. In addition, she supports companies and associations in connection with internal investigations. A further key practice area is general EU law including regulatory issues. She represents her clients in proceedings at the European Commission and before the EU courts. She advises in German, English and French.
